

a BEEBEE FAMILY & MINISTRY UPDATE // OCTOBER 2017

WX | East Asia

Here is an update from the WX Team: “Since settling in, we’ve started our language classes, begun meeting students, and established some routine – a welcome bit of stability within a season of transition.

During our first phase of ministry, our goal is simple: meet as many students as possible! Our hope is to eventually work our way down to a group of students who are genuinely spiritually interested or invested in seeing the Gospel preached at this campus. We know those students will be key partners in discipleship, evangelism, and starting spiritual movements, and we spend our time on campus confident that God has gone before us to prepare willing student leaders.” Pray for the WX team as they sow broadly.

Orange County | California

We can truly identify with Elliott and his team as they welcome the idea of routine. Naomi is in her 5th week of kindergarten, and already she has checked off a school fundraiser and picture day! Meanwhile, Tosh has kept busy learning how to jump, climb and fall at a parkour gym, as well as missing his older sister. Rohan has embraced walking (and falling), and is adamant about feeding himself with fork and spoon. As we embrace change and routine surrounding our children, Tricia and I (Nich) also find ourselves expanding our comfort zone - we have visited a couple churches, joined the YMCA and even hosted a few different friends and family. We even got to see another teammate from East Asia, Kelsey, who recently joined staff with Cru and will be serving as a Financial Analyst. Pray for Kelsey as he builds his ministry team.

Teammates Pri and Vicki

Orlando | Florida

On October 10th, my (Nich's) mom and dad will be flying down to SoCal to spend time with the grandkids. While they are here, Tricia and I will head to Florida to attend a debriefing for those who have served internationally for several years. We are excited to continue to process, celebrate and grieve alongside other staff and families who have been serving in East Asia, Slovakia, Middle East, Greece, Italy, Hungary, France, Ireland, Albania, Germany, and Russia. We even will see our friend and teammate, Priscilla, who will be going through the debrief as well.

Much love in Christ,

NICH & Tricia
