BOSTON

Hello,

Last week, I got an e-mail from Allauki, who just finished her freshman year at Babson College. She is from India and went home for the summer. The message was short: she just wanted to know how my summer was going and what I had been up to; however, that reminded me how amazing our God is. I met Allauki in January and since then, she has been on a spiritual journey. This year, she often showed up at a freshman bible study on Friday afternoons in Central Hall at Babson College. She asked lots of questions every week and she always shared her thoughts. She hasn't responded to the Gospel yet, but I am trusting that she will as she returns to school in just a month. I am reminded that there are around 50,000 students who will be coming to Boston for the first time as college freshman just like Allauki did last fall. Would you join us in praying not only that Allauki would respond to the Gospel but also that the hearts of the incoming freshman would be soft towards the message of Jesus.

We are so blessed to have you partnering with us in ministry in Boston. We are overwhelmed by your prayers and partnership. We wouldn't be able to do what we do with out partners like you. Thank You so much!

Love,

Brian and Malisa Ellis
