

Penetrating the Final
Frontiers for the Glory of Jesus

By Mobilizing the Next Generation to the Nations

Dear Friends,

On a rainy Missouri Saturday, we had a room full of students piled in our training center. We spent the day investigating the art of storytelling, experiencing the story of God's word and exploring the host culture of our upcoming outreach. At the end of the day, I sat down with each student as they told me the Story, God's story from creation to the church and I evaluated them on their content, audibility, body language and cultural relevance. After evaluations I realized that all of my students were able to communicate the Gospel in a biblically sound and culturally relevant manor.

My joy, in that realization, came not from the fact that the lessons had served their purpose, but in the fact that this clear message was prepared for a ripe harvest among the unreached. My joy expounded when I saw the team on the field. Young deaf students and deaf adults received the message, and we saw a harvest. School to the Nations believes firmly in well-trained students who are prepared physically, mentally and most of all spiritually to face the hard battles that come at the ends of the earth. Through my ministry at School to the Nations, I have the opportunity to go to foreign fields, but my job also allows me to train and move multiple teams to places all over the world and I am privileged to be a part of teaching and rising up future missionaries

I am so thankful for all who have been supporting me in prayer and financially. I started with the mindset that support raising was the Lord's plan for my provision as I served in ministry. Yet now I see it is God's beautiful plan for all believers to join His mission by fulfilling their calling. It requires the body of Christ to join, intertwine and invest in one another, so that peoples may know His name. God pens a masterpiece of His flock obeying their shepherd and His peace reaching the ends of the Earth (Micah 5:4). The students I train and the places I go are not my work...they are a beautiful masterpiece of God's church obeying His commands. Together we share in the harvest

If you are not a part of my financial team, I would like to invite you to prayerfully consider joining my monthly support team. You can read more about exactly what I do on the next page. In order to be able to continue in full time ministry, I am in need of people to partner with me financially. My monthly goal is $2500, which provides my living expenses, 2 overseas mission outreaches/year and ministry cost. I am currently about 50% funded.

If you would like to give to my ministry please place the enclosed Commitment Card, containing instructions on how to give, along with your check in the return envelope. Please remember NOT to put my name on the check for tax purposes. There is also an online giving option at <http://www.razoo.com/jenna> . Please contact me if you have any questions at all.

Thank you for being a consistent support and encouragement in my life. I pray that you know your significance in the Kingdom. I firmly believe that if the body of Christ begins to take action to reach the lost world, the Lord will move beyond even our largest effort.

Challenge

The Lord desires for every person to know Him and follow Him, but this is not the reality. There are 4.5 billion lost people on the planet and 6,508 people groups that have never even heard Christ name. Whole tribes long to meet with the authentic Creator God, but few believers risk the journey.

School to the Nations Role

School to the Nations (STN) seeks to penetrate the final frontiers by mobilizing the next generation. Our goal is to reload the mission field through training, equipping, sending and going so that people from every nation, tribe and tongue may share in the power of Christ (Revelations 5:9)

*“May the nations be glad and sing for joy, for you rule the peoples justly and guide the nations of the earth. Selah “
Psalms 67:4*

My Role

I lead our cross-cultural training department to develop missionary training and strategic outreaches to the many various cultures of the world.

My role at School to the Nations includes:

- ϕ Developing and overseeing all mission training programs
- ϕ Training teams and Planning and Leading overseas mission outreaches
- ϕ Planning and implementation of evangelical events for local international students
- ϕ Building and discipling a mission minded intern team at our base camp in Ozark, MO
- ϕ Designing and coordinating missions awareness programs for local churches

Your Opportunity

I am currently on full missionary status meaning I live on what the Lord provides through His followers. Please prayerfully consider joining my monthly support team.

Goal: 2,500/month

- ϕ Living Expenses
- ϕ 2 yearly overseas outreaches
- ϕ Ministry Cost and Fees
