New York here we come

This past month we have been raising support, doing our central coast bucket list, packing our house up, and saying bye. God has been bringing in our monthly support and we only have $500 more a month to raise. Our bucket list has included a beach picnic, a train ride on the pacific coast train, a weekend camping trip to Yosemite, and family pictures, just to name a few. Now we are packing up our house. It has been good, but a lot of work. We had a garage sale, sold stuff on craigslist and purged a ton of stuff, but I am still wondering if we will fit everything in the U-Haul, crossing our fingers. And finally it has brought us to tears saying goodbye to our favorite places: the home we brought our babies to, our amazing team, a church that feels like family, a ministry we love, and friends we have lived life with. So I thank Jesus that He made our calling to NY so clear. He didn't have to give us such a clear calling but He did and for that we praise Him. He has been our Rock through it all and He will continue to be.

Would you pray for us and our kids through this move? We will need it!!

Please pray for . . .

- Safe travel as Kevin (with a cuesta student and a friend) drive the U-Haul across the country.
- Sanity for Jenn as she flies alone across the country with two kids.
- The health of our kids. They have had the stomach flu and on top of that Dave has had pink eye and a double ear infection all in the last week.
- For our adjustment to a new home especially for Abbey.
- That we would find a church home quickly.
- Develop friendships with other young families.
- Transition to a new team; that we would connect to one another, experience unity and the power of the Spirit.
- God to use us in amazing ways to work in the lives of students in Buffalo. We feel like it is going to be hard in the midst of so much transition, but God is so much bigger!
