

Steps

Faith on campus

Recently, it has been challenging to think and pray through the idea that God is constantly asking us to take steps of faith. It's different for everyone, but it's significant in that it is a step towards Him, a step towards life and away from hiding out...away from darkness. Usually the step can even seem scary.

On campus, we are constantly challenged to do something new, talk to someone new, start new ministries, etc.... In the last couple months, it has been exciting to start new ministries at Cal State Fullerton and at San Jose State. For Fullerton, it was launching an Epic Movement group, a Campus Crusade ministry focused on giving Asian American students opportunities to know and love God within their cultural context. You can see the picture above, which is just one element to what we do on a "Launch Day"; have an info table in the middle of campus. The picture below shows another element, which is the Info Lunch. Students can come, eat and hear specifically how they can get involved in a new Christian group on campus. The students are always glad for free food. There were 20 at CSUF and 17 up at San Jose.

Now the real work begins as these potential leaders are disciplined and coached and they step out in faith to reach their friends and classmates; and they hear and then speak words of life and hope to people who are just going through the motions of life.

Please join us in praying that these groups would take root, grow and then start other groups. That they would have the missionary spirit to 'go where no one is going.'

Thanks for making it possible for us to get to these campuses and students!

Etc....

-Praise God for the 20 students who came to the Launch Epic meeting at CSUF!

-Praise God that over 40 students went to the Epic Fall Retreat recently. They were challenged to grow in their relationship with God and share that relationship with others.

- Praise God for the 17 students who came to the SJSU Launch on Oct 27th

-Praise God for the SDSU students who are returning from their Fall Retreat. Pray they continue to step out in faith on campus in San Diego.
