¡Hasta luego! See you later!

We are on our way back to Ecuador, thanks to you.

We have traveled 39,489 miles in 407 days. And have attended 119 services. We are very relieved to have this itineration behind us and heading back to Ecuador. We've enjoyed being in the states with friends and family but we are ready to go home. We are ready to see our church family there and get back to work. We are still raising funds for land in Ecuador so if you would like to give towards that, it would be greatly appreciated. We are hoping to purchase this land within the year.

Please be praying that God will provide the funds needed and the perfect piece of land.

Ethan and Megan have had a great year in the states and we are very thankful for that. But we are happy to say that they too are ready to get back to Ecuador. We are so amazed at the work The Lord does in our kids in every place that we go. We've been a little worried about them leaving the states because of all the freedoms that they've had here. They have both learned to drive and Ethan was able to drive alone the last three months. One day while having lunch with Megan I (Susan) asked Megan if she was sure she was going to be ok when we get back to Ecuador. (I must add here that she is leaving a boyfriend behind, whom we all love.) She said, why mom because now I know what I'm missing out on? I said, yes. She said, mom it's the kids here in the US that is missing out. I knew right then that she was going to be fine. Ethan will graduate next year and Megan will graduate in 2016 then we will be all alone. I need prayer right now for this.

Thank you all for your continued support to our ministry. We could not do it without you. We can't say thank you enough for your faithful giving.

Please keeps us in your prayers these next few days as we travel back to Ecuador. We have a lot of things to do as soon as we land. We have to find a place to live,
