FILL THE FEAST

Spiritual convo: 355

Gospel convos - 223

Decision for Christ - 31

Based off the parable of the great banquet from Luke 14:15-24, we took a week this semester and focused on inviting as many people as we could to the future heavenly celebration. We challenged students to reach out to friends, classmates and even random people in hopes of sharing the gospel. Many took huge risks and shared their faith for the first time! There were so many fun stories of open listeners, encouraging feedback and decisions for Christ! We had our own feast and celebrated all God did that week in November.

God is using this outreach week in big ways, y'all! Ella and I met with a freshman international student from China today. Her name is Megan, and she had never before heard of Christianity. In fact, once we opened the KGP, her first question was "What does the word 'Christian' actually even mean?"

After sharing the Gospel with her, she was interested in having a relationship with God... SO SHE PRAYED TO RECEIVE CHRIST!

Please join me in praying for Megan as she begins this new life. ❤️

Reflecting on yesterday's sharing with Kevin Romero, Ryan Ziehr, Andrew Stadler, Will Sanford, Gage Wuttke and Kelsey O'Hara we got to meet: 2 Christian backgrounds, 2 agnostics, 1 atheist, 1 Buddhist, and 1 Hindu. EVERY conversation was respectful and ALL BUT ONE conversation led to us sharing the gospel. It was crazy! Props to you guys for steps of faith yesterday, 3 of which had never shared their faith before!

"DOES GOD STILL LOVE ME EVEN THOUGH IM LGBTQ?"

-FROM THE GIRL WITH THE PURPLE HAIR

We were filled with excitement & compassion as questions like this one came flooding in from students on Edgewood's campus during our "Text for Treat" Outreach. We paired up with students & went out to answer questions with candy in hand. It was amazing to find out the bigger stories behind the questions and share God's love for each individual. We talked to Bridget, the "girl with the purple hair" for over an hour as she asked question after question. She has since come to our last 3 Bible studies and told us she feels like this community is different than any she's been a part of. As we've been talking, she says she feels very close to putting her trust in Christ. Pray for Bridget!!!
