Sacred River 🇮🇳 South Asia

The East Asia intern team arrived in South Asia last month to learn and be a part of what God is doing in this part of the world! They have been working hard to launch new campuses and meet new students who are Christian or are interested in learning more about Jesus.

It has been a humbling transition for them, learning a new way of doing ministry and engaging in a new context and spiritual climate here. But God has been showing them how He is at work here and His heart for South Asia.

One of our interns Tricia coaches, Jun (pictured above-left), along with another intern had the opportunity to meet three students and hear stories about their families and lives. Eventually, they were able to share about Jesus and the good news. Two of the three women indicated a decision to follow Jesus!

Praise God for allowing these interns to engage in what He has been doing in their lives and for giving them the faith to trust Jesus. Pray for these women as our interns follow up with and help them in their new relationship with God.

Atlanta 🍎 Georgia

During the last week of February, I (Tricia) attended my Cross-Cultural Training Coordinator meetings in Atlanta. This is the team I serve on part-time.

Over 4 days, we lived in a cabin and shared our lives together, as we collaborated on new material for U.S. and overseas ministry teams. I also loved touring the King Center — there are so many unspoken heroes of the Civil Rights Era. Their acts of non-violence paved the way for the world we live, including the fact Nich and I can be married!

One unique fact I learned was when Cru first started in 1951, 95% of the college population was white, but now more than half are people of color like me. As our world changes, we have this unique opportunity to develop our cultural competency, and be a part of creating trainings to resource our staff. Personally, Nich and I are growing so much in this area so we can be more creative and thoughtful in the ways we interact with the Lord and show His love to others. Please pray for Nich and I as we head back to Atlanta on March 23rd for “the Lenses Institute” which is a week of cross-cultural training. Please pray God would prepare us to engage well mentally and emotionally!
