MULTIPLICATION

I love people. I think most of you know that by now. One of the delightful gifts God has given me in this season of waiting and working towards my return to my 'post', is a more flexible schedule. He has gifted me with time to see the people around me, visit my neighbors and invest my life in people in an increasing capacity. In my last update, I told you about the privilege God has given me to pour into in my friend, Shannon. A little over a month ago, we began working through a wonderful CCC resource written by Bill Bright called, "Transferable Concepts." There are ten lessons in all and they cover foundational principles in the Christian faith like, How You Can Be Sure You Are a Christian, How You can Walk In The Spirit, How to Love by Faith, and more.

I delivered the booklets to Shannon at a dinner party thrown by a friend back in January. That night, another friend, Dave, took a peek at them and asked to borrow the first of two on the role of the Holy Spirit in the life of the believer. The Lord used the material to encourage Dave in his walk with God and he went on to share the concept with the people in his small group. The story doesn't end there...

Last week, Dave was in Africa and he sent us some news via Facebook. Serving there for 10 days on a mission's trip, the Lord gave him an opportunity to share about the role of the Holy Spirit with 3,000 men and women! I was amazed and encouraged to hear how God took this simple circumstance and multiplied the fruit thousands of miles away! Isn't God amazing? Please join me in prayer for each of these individuals—may each experience fruit as they journey with Jesus and walk in step with His Spirit in the days ahead. Let's pray this for ourselves, as well! ☺

If you're interested, you can read "Transferable Concepts" online at: <http://www.transferableconcepts.org>. Let me know your thoughts on the material. I hope you'll be encouraged!

Prayer is Powerful

- If you're like me, you like a deadline! My director and I have set one for my report date back to my ministry assignment due to an upcoming project I'll be in charge of this spring. Join me in praying that God will bring in the remaining financial support by May 6th. I report to the office the following Monday!
- Please pray for discernment in how to best employ my time each day. That God would help me know who to contact about ministry partnership opportunities and how to invest in people around me here in Orlando.
- Your continued prayers for my time with Shannon are so appreciated! I'm also acting in a support role for six small group leaders in my church as they care for the people in our community. Pray that I listen to the Lord and respond appropriately as I meet with them and visit their groups over the next few months.
- Praise! I have experienced significant improvement in my back this past month! Thank you for your prayers!
- Praise! God provided two new ministry partners to join our team this past month. I'm so grateful.

Amazed by Him,
