Ministry

Partnerships

On my recent trip to New York, I met with multiple organizations that have a heart for creating jobs in Haiti as a solution to fighting poverty. We are all smaller organizations, striving to accomplish the same goal. Yet The New York City Leadership Center is forming a group that will collaborate on best practices as well as lobby agencies and foundations for funds.

TOGETHER we have a more compelling voice and can captivate the attention of larger donors.

Thousand Hills
MINISTRY

RAISE THE ROOF! The first chicken house has been built at Open Door, thanks to GOD, His people, and the building team from Servant Quarter Fellowship in FL! What excitement to see what's happening on land that has room for 9 more houses like this! Already a team from Lighthouse Community Church in Iowa, using the lessons learned on this project, is planning to construct another house adjacent to this one in January. By then, the first batch of chickens will have been raised and sold! The mission of THM is to take ideas like chicken houses and greenhouses and grow them and expand the base on Haitian ministries that have them. More than producing chickens and plants, these new businesses are birthing opportunities, passions, livelihoods – hope for the future! Glory to God.

FRUIT BEARING

A ministry partner asked me to help him with a Haitian ministry he is supporting. The goal, sustainability. After talking with Fenal, the Haitian directing the ministry, we identified a greenhouse to help achieve his goals. The funds are raised and Fenal is pursuing his passion of farming! GOD's connections are exciting!

Clarifying points

- I left the employment of Open Door Haiti this past August. Since then my efforts have been directed on launching Thousand Hills Ministry (THM). I had already been working on sustainable projects for years at Open Door, however, now God has broadened my horizon to work with other Haitian ministries, as well as Open Door.
- Open Door's Board of Directors are taking over my previous responsibilities that were not related to business development, job creation, entrepreneurial efforts; sustainability.
- THM first initiative into sustainability will be to create a network of poultry farmers and through this network assist in opening markets for poultry in Haiti that a single farmer could not obtain.
- I am continuing to work with Pastor Wiljean on the various sustainable projects underway, and of course future projects. These projects benefit ODH and our partnership together continues to grow.
- On a quarterly basis, you will be receiving a newsletter directly from Doug Holliday, keeping you updated on ODH. Anyone making a donation to ODH over the last two years receives this newsletter, and since you have sent support to our family, that adds your name to the list of recipients. Some of the information in this quarterly newsletter might be repetitive, since you receive THM newsletters, but we love to share what God is doing. If this is confusing or you no longer wish to receive the quarterly newsletter, please let Doug or I know.

Donations

THM will start receiving your donations to our ministry starting January 1, 2012. The State of Florida and the IRS have received THM application for incorporation. Please continue to send your donations for our family's personal support to Open Door Haiti, memo or note for: STOUT SUPPORT.

Please share our ministry vision with your family, friends, everyone! In an entrepreneurial context, fruitful Christians are excited to share their business skills with others who can create enterprises that provide the blessing of employment, his effectiveness is multiplied by helping others do the same. Glory be to God!
