The seminary library receives a blessing

Look at these faces, these brothers and sisters of mine and yours, carrying the gospel of Christ in their hearts; these are some of the seminary students you invest in. Thank you for your generous investment in them.

Through your faithful giving the library is now filled with hundreds of textbooks all written in Creole so the students can hunt through them for nuggets of truth to share with many others.

Also, the library's computer lab is equipped with laptops and also desktop computers for the students to complete their assignments.

These resources not only provide the current students with high quality resources to assist in learning it also attracts more students to the program and be part of the network planting more than 100 new churches

Thank you Joint Heirs class for the faith and vision to accept and raise the funds for this project.

Our High school graduate

She did it, whoop!!! Congratulations Bree! Now off to the University of North Florida.

God in the storms

In June LifePoint Christian Church will be joining us on a trip to Lacienne. We will host a medical clinic, VBS for over 300 children and build a wall around the campus to keep village animals out of the cabbage patch.

Our goal was to raise $12k for all projects.

One month prior to our departure for the trip and $6k short of our fundraising goal a storm hit the school in Lacienne. Most of the roof is lost and the rest is destroyed. Oh, no!

I called the Pastor at LifePiont and informed him of the roof situation. As we talked we considered switching the wall project for the immediate need of the school roof, but because he is currently preaching a series on unbelievable bible stories like...God stopping the sun one day, and a donkey talking, we committed to do both believing God will provide the funds for the wall and the roof projects, in two weeks.

Can the storm that destroyed the school roof be used to grow faith and trust in God? We believe, how about you?

Please, join us... not just to put the roof on a the school in Lacienne but to have God stretch your faith as He shows you how much you trust Him!

Trusses, metal roof, Haitian roof crew = $5k
