Dearest Friends,

I can't picture a better way to enter into Thanksgiving than a weekend with surrendered students. Juniors and seniors from universities across CA, AZ, and HI came to seek God's will for their futures. The Crossroads conference was a powerful time in fellowship, worship, and God's Word!

Five Seniors from Cal State Fullerton joined us. Richard, Michelle, Amy, Jessica, and Travis have been student leaders in our movement for over a year now. Recently, they've reached out to their campus through the 3rd annual So You Think You Can Dance Competition, where at least three students accepted Christ. These leaders have also helped with small group Bible studies, weekly opportunities to share the gospel with fellow students, and community events. I'm thankful they had a weekend for them!

Richard commented that one of the speakers was INCREDIBLE and lit the fire under his butt again. Michelle was impacted by the importance of honoring God with her finances to really make a difference for His kingdom. Michelle, Richard, and Travis are all considering serving the Lord in full-time ministry for at least a year when they graduate.

I also had the chance to lead a discussion group with seven students from different campuses. They reflected together on how the meetings and speakers touched them. After our last evening session, I asked what went through their minds as we began worship. Jonathan seemed to get at the heart of the matter. He said he couldn't stop thinking about what his life was like before he knew Christ, contrasted with how Christ has now saved him!

Please continue with me in prayer for these upperclassmen!

Grace and Peace,

Christina
