Dear friends,

Did you know that next week, you'll be helping us assemble a million meals to take to Haiti?

In two hours, Malisa and I will be hopping on a plane to take this group of students to Panama City Beach, Florida. They'll spend the week learning how to join others on their spiritual journeys and point them toward Jesus. Many of them are students you've been praying for this year—some who just began relationships with Jesus themselves.

In addition to meeting people on the beach, we'll be working alongside spring breakers to assemble 1,000,000 meals for Haiti relief. Would you pray that while we're serving together, we'd have lots of chances to have great evangelistic conversations with our new friends?

Thanks so much for partnering with us, and thanks for praying for changed lives.

Loving our Adventurous Lord,

Brian and Malisa Ellis
