Destino

Destino staff at the CSU staff conference. If you look closely you can see Dan's brother standing next to him.

She said, "I always knew about Jesus dying on the cross, but I never knew what it meant for me."

I prayed for her and for her friend who was in one of the classes I was a TA (Teachers Assistant) for this summer. This was just one of 600 such interactions as these students did a worldview survey. What an experience! Working with staff from around the world and being a part of their theological development was quite a privilege. Then to see how the classes practically helped our staff share their faith with others was amazing. We hope to be able to do this again in the future and be a part of sending staff who are better prepared, more theologically developed and more in love with Jesus. Thanks for helping send us to do this!
