

HARE TODAY

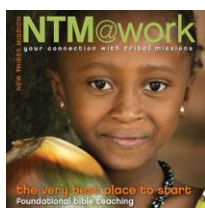

July 2009

Dear friends,

Hope your Independence Day was a good one. We celebrated with son, Jeremy, and family, up from Miami for a few days, before they pack to leave for Guam on Sunday, July 12. Their youngest, Thalia, turned 2 years old and we celebrated with balloons and streamers to surprise her when they arrived Friday evening. Saturday the 4th, daughter, Jessica, and I took the girls to the park, while Jeremy and Judy did some shopping. In the evening we all went to niece, Lina Fletcher's, for a cookout and afterward, watched the fireworks in Sanford. A delightful Sunday followed with church then lunch with Jeremy's boyhood best bud, Jason Estelle and family. It was great to see Jason's family and Jeremy and Jason reconnect. Jason has a lovely family, 3 very polite kids, and a lovely home. Jason works in the mobilization department of Pioneer Mission based in Orlando.

The movers arrived July 9 and 10 to pack and ship Jeremy and Judy's household items and cars. Jeremy and Judy appreciate your prayers for this transition for their family, safety in travel and adjusting to life in Guam.
