"GOD IS LOVE" -- Epic Conference 2012
January 2012

Wow. Epic Conference 2012. I knew that being asked to direct something like this would be a huge step of faith, but little did I know that it would end up being such a tremendous blessing and amazing way for me to reconnect with the Lord. Over the past few months of planning and preparing, we, as a design team knew that without the Lord's hand and guidance, this conference would have been nothing more than just the routine of another conference with great worship, speakers, and fellowship. As we sought out direction and leading through the Holy Spirit, I realized that weekend that I needed to be on my face in prayer, worship, and submission to what the Lord wanted to do and speak. In doing so, I was in awe at the ways God showed up and out of that, an overflow of worship came from my heart for His goodness and faithfulness!

That weekend, I walked away with new perspective on the power of prayer and submission and how much I need to fall DAILY before the Lord! It was such a good reminder that in the day to day, I often times think that I can walk on my strength, but when I choose to give myself away to His will, in return, the blessings are far often greater and He is that much more glorified in and through me. Getting to put on a conference like this for 300+ students is not something that happens often, and to be used in such a way was something I will never forget! Thank you for ALL your prayers and support and for giving me the opportunity to experience life change in this way!!!
