MIT staff and students partnered with Cru at Florida Atlantic University (FAU) and Florida International University (FIU) and spent a week in Florida learning and growing in evangelism on college campuses.

One afternoon at FIU, Pamela and Sara (pictured below) met a student named Alejandro. Praying that God would lead them to someone, they saw him sitting on a bench. They went through an evangelism tool called “Perspective Cards” and talked about the nature of God, human nature, meaning and purpose in life, etc. Alejandro grew up with an idea of Christianity and knew some things about Jesus but he seemed really interested in hearing more.

They shared their stories and Sara asked him if he wanted to know how he could place his faith in Christ. He said “yes”! They read through the ‘prayer to believe’ card in the set. He said since he’s a commuter student he never sits on that bench. How cool to see God orchestrate that meeting! They connected him to Cru at FIU so please pray for his spiritual growth within that community! Thank you for being part of students like Alejandro coming to Jesus!

(below) Our Harvard/Suffolk team’s spring break trip to Cuba with “Filter of Hope”. We had 8 staff/students attend the trip. They distributed 32 water filters in Havana, shared the gospel with 55 people they met, and 25 people placed their faith in Jesus!

God is still drawing people to Himself, and we get to be a part of it. Thank you for your partnership.
