

MARCH 8, 2021

Freshmen at MIT finally got to campus in February! After having spent their first semester of college learning remotely from home, freshmen at MIT have moved onto campus and are loving finally being in the city! As a way to welcome the class of 2024, our Cru staff and student leaders delivered care packages to students living on campus. We've given out 42 care packages so far and are continuing to connect with new freshmen. Our hope is to give out 70 total! Please pray for our MIT Student Outreach team as they meet, brainstorm, and plan how to connect with freshmen and even the incoming Class of 2025.

One of our involved freshmen, Alexandra, messaged our MIT account on Instagram and said thanks for the care package and that she had used the spiritual conversation tool called Soularium (we had included in the care package) to have a spiritual conversation with her three roommates! Pray for more spiritual conversations as our students talk with their friends and share their faith in Jesus. One of our upperclassmen leaders, Tyler, helped deliver care packages to 5 freshmen in his dorm and said it was so great to meet them in person and have conversations together! The care package included lots of great stuff including a 2024 water bottle, a devotional of the gospel of Luke, an evangelism tool, and a short booklet of the gospel message. Also a box of Girl Scout Cookies!

It's such a privilege to work with team leaders who live in Christ and walk by faith. Please pray I lead them well.

Surely you know how grateful I am for you. Together God uses us so that others come to know Him. How great is that!

Seeing God's love reaching people,
