

March 27, 2013

Please pray...

For wisdom as we are in the process with these applicants.

For a full team of interns to go to Breakthrough (our partnership city in the Middle East) for the 2013-2014 year.

Looking ahead....

April 8-11 Gettysburg, PA

“If Properly Led - Leadership Lessons for Every Battle”

Participating with 40 other leaders from the northeast in a field experience based on a book on spiritual leadership and the Gettysburg battle.

Please pray...

For God to produce growth in me and my leadership abilities as a result of participating in this unique developmental opportunity.

“It’s kind of because of Liz that I am on staff with Cru.” Hearing Jonathan say that took me back to 2002 when I pulled him aside at our MissionU conference to ask him if we could treat him to dinner to talk about his future. It was during that dinner that Jonathan began to understand that working with us as an intern was something he wanted to do. His internship extended into him joining staff with us in 2005.

Raising up laborers is part of what we in Leadership Development do. March has been filled with this kind of work. We have been reading applications and talking on the phone with potential interns and new staff. Much prayer and many conversations have taken place as we consider the applicants readiness for full-time ministry, placement considerations and so much more.

At the same time that I have been contributing to this important work on getting this years new laborers to the ministry field, I have also been working on our Preview Weekend for fall of 2013 which will be a key part in raising up interns and new staff next spring. I think about AJ who I met there last Nov. He is one of this spring’s new staff applicants. It was at that conference that he heard God’s call to come reach people for Christ with us.

I think about the students around the region who are celebrating Easter in a whole new way as they now know Christ because of the work we do and you support in getting these interns and staff to campus.

What a privilege God gives us to help people know Him. Thank you for partnering with me.
