From Spring Break Momentum to Campus Boldness

In my last update, I shared a snapshot of what God did during our Spring Break trip to FL. But the real test is what happens when the suitcases are unpacked. I am thrilled to tell you: the momentum hasn't stopped. Here is a look at what's been happening since:

The Week After: We saw our highest attendance ever at our weekly evangelism time! It was incredibly encouraging to watch students who learned to share their faith in Daytona bring that same boldness back to campus and make evangelism part of their everyday lives.

2 weeks after: (Easter week) We tried a brand new outreach on campus called "Cake and Questions." Using one of Cru's conversation resources (the banners in the picture) and the promise of free cake 🍰, we engaged dozens of students in intentional spiritual conversations. After chatting for a bit, if anyone was interested, our students shared the Gospel using a simple tool called "The Four" four symbols that make the Gospel easy to understand and remember. Also during that time, we passed out Easter eggs that had candy and a QR code for the "TheFour.com" website.

Cake, Questions, and Easter Eggs

One thing I continue to notice is that most students are not hostile toward spiritual conversations. Honestly, many are deeply appreciative. We are often thanked just for taking the time to have a meaningful conversation because in a world of surface-level digital noise, students are hungry for meaningful conversations that are actually pretty rare on campus today.

Thank you for making these conversations possible through your prayers, encouragement, and financial partnership. You are helping create opportunities every week for students to hear about Jesus in a personal and meaningful way. Grateful for you!
