

GREEK MINISTRY

I walked in to a classroom full of Greek (Fraternity and Sorority) students for a soup and religious panel night. In front of the classroom were three chairs and my name was on chalkboard over the middle chair. I don't have much of a Greek background other than when I rushed for a week back in 1995 and quickly realized the Greek life wasn't for me. But, I did decide to get as much free food as I could out of the week.

One little known fact about Campus Crusade for Christ was that it was started in a sorority at UCLA in 1951 and by the end year, hymns were being played on UCLA's bells. From there Campus Crusade for Christ spread throughout the world. So it really shows how influential Greek students can be and many are often world leaders.

For as long as we have been here, little has happened in the history of SLO Crusade and the Greek system, until recently. Thanks to having a committed intern girl (Bethany) who Jenn is training, and a few committed strong students, we have started a bi-weekly meeting for Greek students that are Christian or are interested in finding out more about God, called "Greek Row". Greek Row was actually the meeting I was invited to.

The night started out with soup and small talk. Then a local pastor, a girl from Intervarsity and I were invited to the chairs up front. The Greek students were allowed to ask anything they wanted about Christianity, God, or life. There were some very Greek questions like: "Were you a Greek student?", and "What do you think of Greeks?", and also "What does Jesus think about drinking?"

I think the hardest and most meaningful questions of the night were from a guy that came ready with his questions written down to make sure they were said perfectly. Basically, his questions were, "I grew up in a Christian home so of course I will believe those things, but what about people that grew up Muslim, is what they believe wrong? And how can I choose one religion when I don't know everything about all the religions to make the best choice?" Those were great questions, I am so glad we were able help him walk through them. Overall the night was amazing to be a part of, and it was great seeing something happening for Jesus within the Greek system.

PRAYER REQUESTS
