CRU MISSIONARIES AT BUFFALO | July 2016

Over a hundred college students from all over the world started to pour into a small backyard of the Cru house to party. It was our weekly International cafe where the Cru students had invited their coworkers to come, hang out and make friends. We had been on summer mission in Wildwood, NJ for 4 weeks at this point developing Cru college student from all of the country in treasuring Jesus and reaching the world. But as the music was bumping that night and the glow soccer ball was being kicked around and a large group of Turkish students were dancing to their traditional wedding dances, I couldn't help but be filled with joy. I wish you could be there to see as friendships were developed and as the dozens of Gospel conversations were naturally happening.

The Cru house on International cafe night. We invited international students to a party each week who were also working in Wildwood, NJ for the summer.

Thank you for your partnership that allows us to win students to Christ, build them up in their faith, and send them into the world to do them same.

Wildwood Summer Mission

A girl from Malaysia named SingYe working in Wildwood for the summer was invited by Dorothy (a Cru student) to the Bible study I (Jenn) was leading. SingYe is the sweetest girl looking for friends and a chance to grow in her faith. One night after Bible study I was talking with her and she told me how it was hard to talk to her friends about Jesus. I said I can show you how you can start conversations and share the Gospel. And while as I was training her how to share her faith we had the most in-depth conversation about our own lives and relationship with God. What a sweet moment that God provided to encourage me and equip SingYe to go back and share the Gospel in her own language, in her home country. The next week at International Cafe I saw SingYe intentionally welcoming a new girl and develop a relationship in the hopes that God would open the doors to share the Gospel!!

Back in Buffalo... Cru students have continued to meet weekly. Not only were they wanting to grow spiritually together they wanted their summer to be purposeful. So they decided they wanted to connect with the international students that were taking summer school at the University at Buffalo (UB). Many of these international students come from countries where Christianity is not widespread and for some, even illegal. Anna a UB international student wanted to have an outreach. And over twenty students came to a BBQ where relationships were developed and some spiritual conversations started. What a great opportunity we have to minister to international students in a place where we experience freedom to believe and worship in any way we want. We will hold another cookout outreach on Saturday, August 6th. Please join us in praying for a great time of connection and fun with the students who will come!
