CRU MISSIONARIES AT BUFFALO | Oct 2013

More than we can handle

People always say, God won't give you more than you can handle, when in actuality, we believe God will give you more than you can handle, but He will help you with it. That is what we are feeling. On all 3 campuses, we have had over 40 students at each of the meetings. We are out of the awkward single digits! Instead, the meeting rooms are often busting at the seams!

Yes, we are excited about the high energy of the meetings, but we are not all about the numbers. What we are praying for is changed lives, transformed universities, and for God to be known. We spend most of our day meeting with new students. They get to know us and we get to hear their stories. Also, we get to know where they are at spiritually. God is opening up the doors to share the Good News in these first meetings. The Bible study leader at the University of Buffalo saw this happen...

"Sergio filled out two of the interest cards we've been collecting from students at the dining halls, both of them expressing a strong interest in learning more about God, and what Cru is about. When I got to meet up with him, he said he was agnostic, but had a bunch of Christian friends and was interested in learning more. Then this past Monday, he came to our Bible discussion group of about 10 students, where we were discussing how we can have confidence in our salvation as summarized in 1 John 5:9-13. While discussing it, Sergio said, "One problem I have with Christianity is how arbitrarily God defines sin". This led into a great discussion with the group, as several non-Christian and new-to-faith students also chimed in with their questions or helped explain how God is not a cosmic kill-joy, but that as our Creator, God knows that sin is harmful to us even though we may not be able to see exactly how."

Though there is more to do than we can handle, God is providing students at just the right time to help us keep up.

Meet Ashleigh: She is a sophomore at Daeman College. She started following Jesus last year as a freshman. Now, God has raised her up as a key leader. She leads a freshman Bible study, she's reaching out as an RA, meets with new comers, and volunteers to babysit our kids on Thursday night so we both can go to the UB weekly meeting. And there are a dozen other students like Ashleigh that God has raised up. Please pray with us that God would continue to raise up leaders to reach all pockets of campus.
