Standing in line for Toy Story changed a life!

So, you may be wondering “How could a life be changed in a line for a theme park ride?” I would’ve had the same thought. Cate and I met Ingrid, an intern from Norway at our Thanksgiving outreach, where she expressed an interest in hearing more about Jesus. She later shared with us that her birthday was coming up and she didn’t have anyone to celebrate with. Cate and I decided to spend her birthday with her celebrating her and praying that perhaps the Lord would choose her birthday to draw her into a relationship with Jesus. I had been praying that amidst all of the fun things we were doing that day there would be some time where we could really talk about Jesus. Well, the line for the Toy Story ride at Hollywood Studios was an hour long and as soon as we got in line I realized, this was our opportunity. We started to talk about Jesus and Ingrid had many questions. As we talked about whether or not she had ever placed her faith in Jesus she said she hadn’t but really wanted to. We asked her if she wanted to do it right there in line at Toy Story and she said with a smile on her face “Yes!”. Cate and I couldn’t hold back our smiles, not just because the Lord had drawn Ingrid into a relationship with Himself on her birthday but because He had done it while we were waiting in line at Toy Story! Fast forward this story to this past month and it has been so neat to watch Ingrid grow in her new faith. We’ve been able to take her through some basic follow up and she’s even come with us once to share her faith with others! The European community is very hardened spiritually and to see the Lord direct us to Ingrid, the first European we’ve seen trust Christ has been amazing!

Below: Ingrid and I, about to get on the Toy Story ride!

Other fun news!

I’ll be co-leading the Walt Disney World summer project this summer and have been working on processing many of the student applications for the summer. Please be praying for me and Kevin Dennis as we prepare to lead together and trust the Lord for the students that He would have us accept to be on the project!

“Happy Mondays”

“Happy Mondays” is the term used for the Monday night partying that goes on among the interns here at WDW. Each country provides their own “drinking team” and parties at various locations throughout the housing complex’s. The country that has spearheaded this favorite pastime of the interns is Norway, the very country where we’ve seen the first European trust Christ. Partying is sadly the norm on every college campus and it still carry’s over into the free time of these college-aged interns here at WDW. We have started praying as a team that God would intervene and raise up men and women who would be lights in the darkness here.

Would you pray that Ingrid would have the courage to be one of those lights in the midst of her Norwegian friends and that God would lead us to some of the top influencers of the party scene in these countries and they would come to know Jesus?

Prayer Requests

- Jenny and Lucy (2 interns from East Asia who trusted Christ in October) who just went back to their country 2 weeks ago. We have believers we are hoping to connect them with in their home country so that they could continue to be an environment of growth. Pray that they would grow and have great influence for Christ in East Asia!
- That I would continue to minister out of a fresh walk with Jesus!
