East Asia Surpasses America in Sending Missionaries to the World

This is the prayer of a small leadership team of East Asian (EA) students at our partnership University. Right now there are only 8 leaders in a movement of 15-20 students, but their dreams do not mirror their size in numbers. They are believing God that their area of the world would send out more missionaries to reach other parts of the world than even the U.S. A dream that big points to a faith in an all powerful, all loving, all enabling God.

Wednesday evening of the spring break trip our group of CRU Ball State staff and students listened as those 8 EA Christian student leaders share (in broken English) about how they came to put their faith in Jesus for the forgiveness of their sins and new life in God. Coming from mostly Buddhist, Muslim, and atheist backgrounds, these students explained how the truth of Christ and his ability to remove sins and make them right before God changed their lives. Most have been rejected by their family and friends, many withstand persecution from parents and classmates on a regular basis, but they have a new family now, a spiritual family and a heavenly Father.

Just to spend eight days with those precious brothers and sisters in Christ has changed my view of the world forever. I think all of the students that came with us would say the same.

This coming summer those 8 EA student leaders have an incredible opportunity to go to a CCC world-wide conference in Korea. Campus Mission 2007 is a strategic conference bringing together student leaders from all over the world. One of the goals of CM2007 is to equip students for ministry and inspire them to the unfinished task of building campus movements everywhere.

The obstacles are numerous. None of them have ever been out of the country before, they'll need a passport and visa, they will need to get permission to miss a week of classes, and on top of that they'll need to raise $800 each, a seemingly impossible task. But in the face of overwhelming barriers these 8 young Christian student leaders still want to go! They want to see 20,000 brothers and sisters in Christ from all corners of the earth worshipping the one true God and carrying out his will to have people from every tribe, tongue, and nation worship Him. They want to dream and believe God for reaching the world for Christ, they want to be part of bring in the spiritual harvest that God is preparing.

Their faith is inspiring, their stories are captivating, and their mission is clear...tell the world about Jesus!

Please pray...

- ◆ That those 8 EA students would make it to that conference.
- ◆ For the strongholds of Buddhism, Islam, and Atheism to begin to crumble in this part of the world.
- ◆ That our BSU students would not forget what God is doing in EA, and that they would share that with others.

Thank you so much for partnering with our family to bring the good news of Jesus Christ to the world.
