

Oh fear the LORD, you his saints, for those who fear him have no lack! The young lions suffer want and hunger; but those who seek the LORD lack no good thing. Come, O children, listen to me; I will teach you the fear of the LORD. (Psalm 34:9-11)

As we continue to pray about our future with Athletes in Action and how the Lord would have us serving Him, He has lead us to the above passage from His Word. It has brought us much comfort and encouragement. Honestly, its been a hard season of waiting on His timing. While we feel His presence, waiting and trusting is challenging moment by moment. He also has brought a lot of perspective through the stories of Hannah & David in 1 Samuel, who also waited and trusted. In their processes they got to know the Lord more intimately. While they waited, their trust and passion for obedience grew. THANK YOU for praying for us. We feel your prayers strongly and the most incredible part of this process has been getting to know the Lord better and gaining deeper understanding of how He has designed and gifted us for His glory. We are learning to trust Him to work all things together for His good purpose (Romans 8:28). He has blessed us with supervisors who are coming along side us and also equipping us with books and materials that are helping us piece together our past experiences, passions & giftings. He is also revealing places that He wants to stretch and grow us through depending on Him. This means embracing situations that will only "work" if HE does it through us. We believe that even this seeking process is preparing us for what He is leading us to next as we serve Him through the ministry in sports. THANK YOU for your support, encouragement, and patience with us as we have been learning how to continue to seek Him but also be faithful with the assignments He has lead us to in the interim.

We are blessed by your partnership and look forward to keeping you posted on His next steps for our ministry as he leads us. Please continue to pray with us and for us in the journey of seeking His plan for our next steps.

Would you like to directly impact the life of an Olympian?

AIA is very involved in the 2012 games and we will share more about these ministry opportunities in our next update, but here is a way we are trying to influence EACH and EVERY athlete from around the globe this summer for Christ! Please Join us!

The NIGHT OF CHAMPIONS in Xenia, Ohio

A special celebration of God being glorified in the lives of high level and influential athletes lives happened May 12th. What a night! More than 600 people experienced God at work in the lives of Clark Kellogg (former Ohio State basketball standout/ NBA player/ current CBS sports commentator) & Tamika Catchings (Univ. of Tennessee standout/ WNBA MVP from the Indiana Fever/ 2012 Team USA Olympian). Clark & Tamika shared their stories of how having a relationship with Christ has transformed them from the inside out as they communicated that HE is where the ULTIMATE victory is found...
