Summer is here!

I'm standing in line behind five hungry Butler football players as they stack their plates full of cheesy potatoes, hamburgers, and desserts. The end of every school year usually means a cookout for the AIA movement! It's a fun way to bless our student athletes, and encourage them to invite friends and teammates who don't normally come to AIA. Praise God we had another year full of deep relationships, taking risks, and seeing growth in the hearts of students we love! Students like Mikey, Paige, Kellen, Rachel — just to name a few. :)

Matt coaching an intern

As the school year winds to a close, we typically gear up for our summer assignment, which means traveling somewhere for a summer mission trip. BUT with our first baby coming VERY soon, we will be staying put in Indy. Matt's summer job is coaching 11 Cru interns in raising their support by August 1st. I'm excited to be an integral part of mobilizing these soon-to-be missionaries who are headed to Brazil for a year to reach university students on major campuses! Please pray for wisdom in coaching them, and God's grace in their support raising.
