God's Faithfulness Through Alli

When I (Jenny) first met Alli, she was a freshman on the Cross Country team at Butler. I began discipling her the summer of 2018 (while nursing and caring for newborn Caroline). We wrestled with what it means to remain surrendered to the Lord when all her teammates wanted nothing to do with Jesus. We dreamed about what it could look like to see a spiritual movement on her team. Alli remained faithful to pursue her teammates with grace and truth. The past three years, God has slowly but surely been at work in and through Alli. I recently received this text from Alli after she led the XC team small group.

Butler XC team small group led by Alli

"Jenny, this was our XC team small group on Monday! Almost everyone on the team was there. It's literally bigger than when it was combined with the Track & Field girls. I am so encouraged! AHHH, God is so good!!"

WOW! This picture and text from Alli captures why we remain motivated to reach and disciple college athletes. It's overwhelming to see God's faithfulness through my investment in Alli; especially while I'm caring for our three little ones at home and have limited time to give on campus during this season of life. *Update about the kids on the backside :)

Pray for Spiritual Multiplication

The spiritual fruit through Alli's life is exactly what we are praying for and laboring toward! As we disciple men and women to walk intimately with Jesus, we also equip them to pursue their teammates with the good news of Jesus. Their close friendships naturally build bridges of grace which can carry the weight of truth. Alli graduates this May but we are excited for how God's Spirit will continue the work through her disciples Maddie and Karmen.

Pray that we would see more athletes like Alli raised up to be ambassadors for Christ amongst their teammates. Thank you for being our partner in this missionary work. We couldn't do this Kingdom building work without your prayers and financial support!
