Multiplying Disciples

When you consider the life and ministry of Jesus, what comes to mind as his top priority? Was it healing and showing compassion? Was it speaking and teaching truth? Was it fulfilling God's will?

Those are all good and true answers. What if his greatest purpose was to call and make disciples who multiply their faith and create a spiritual movement that lasts for thousands of years? And this calling to make disciples is passed down to every follower of Jesus (Matthew 28).

Our prayer is that God would raise up Christ-centered servant leaders from the college campus who multiply their faith for decades to come!

Doug Nick Caleb Delaney Jenny Matt

Our staff team from Indianapolis (pictured above) recently joined with AIA staff from around the country to learn how to make multiplying disciples among college athletes. It was a great time of being sharpened alongside 70+ laborers in the mission. Our main focus during the three day immersion was how to call disciples in the way of Jesus.

Our staff team is growing! We recently brought on Caleb and Delaney who will serve as part-time staff at Marian University. We also welcomed Nick who will serve full-time at Butler University. A few other interns and staff are currently raising support. Please pray for their fundraising efforts.

Fall Launch

We're beginning the fall semester with energy and excitement for what God has in store. The first six weeks of the fall semester are key for meeting new students and building momentum for the entire school year. Pray for us to have clarity of heart and mind in the coming weeks.

Pray also for our students to think and live on mission during this critical time of year. God is moving among this generation and we are privileged to see lives changing. Thank you for partnering with us to reach and disciple college athletes. They are the future of the Church and the future is bright! :)
