Jenny's Ministry This Summer

Nina comes with pages of questions from studying the Bible herself — a first for her. Ever since fully surrendering to Jesus at UTC in May, she is EAGER to grow! I wish you could see her sense of awe as she discovers "God doesn't have a giant tally system measuring my good and bad" for the first time. It's a privilege to shepherd her heart and point her to the beautiful, finished work of Christ!

She's also wrestling with how God could use her to reach teammates with the gospel — many of them have doubts and questions. Pray her passion for Christ would be a sweet aroma to those around her.

I recently met with Bailey (pictured right), a Butler cheerleader who attended Ultimate Training Camp in Colorado. She took a huge step of faith by going! We looked at what the Bible says about being secure in our relationship with Jesus. When we stop trusting our own efforts to please God, and fully trust the sacrifice Jesus made on our behalf, it changes everything!

Bailey at UTC Colorado

Like many Butler students, she struggles with people pleasing and "measuring up" to others. What a joy to help her see that the gospel frees us from needing to perform! Pray for her heart to take that liberating truth deeper.

With another girl, I'm discussing what it means to live out sexual purity in relationships. Even though she grew up in church, this is a new way of thinking. The deeper heart wrestle is trusting God has her best in mind through the waiting and denial of self. Pray for this spiritual battle in the hearts and minds of women and men.

Pray for God's Spirit to make hearts good soil as we faithfully sow gospel seeds. There are many "thorns and cares of the world" (Mark 4:19) that enter in and choke out the Word. It breaks my heart to see Satan's lies fool many of the women I work with. Thank you for partnering with us!
